Girls Be U

(Girls: Building Empowerment and Uniqueness)

Who: Current high school freshmen, sophomores and juniors (2010-11 school year)

What: A new empowerment program for teen girls

When: Thursday evenings from 6 - 8:30 pm during the fall of 2011
September 8 & 22, October 6 & 20, November 3 & 17, December 1 & 8

Where: YWCA McLean County, 1201 N Hershey Road, Bloomington, IL

Participants from McLean County area schools will explore their own uniqueness and positive qualities through an open and creative curriculum. Various topics to be discussed include:

- Health and wellness
- Relationships
- Other timely subjects relevant to girls
- Finances
- Global girls' issues

As these young women gain greater self-awareness and confidence, they will use these newly-acquired skills and knowledge to become leaders and role models for other girls.

Limited seats available. To download an application, go to www.ywcamclean.org. For more information, contact Lacey MacLeod at lmacleod@ywcamclean.org or (309) 662-0461 ext 223. Applications must be received at the YWCA by Monday, May 16, 2011.
